Reviewing & Understanding My Mark

Reviewing and understanding your mark is important feedback to see how your grade level is adding up. Using the web site www.mfranzen.ca through the top menu by selecting your course > marks > section number along with your student number, will allow you to review individual entries for each of your projects and assignment marks. Following the demonstration and explanation you should easily be able to see what your final current mark is and a breakdown of individual entries assigned and graded. Review the achievement chart for percentage breakdowns of the weighted categories and realize that your mark is in constant flux as more projects and assignments are added.

Below is a table with room to fill in your current related project and assignment mark information and final mark from the web site. You will receive a mark based on the number of entries, (each worth a mark).
